AMERICAN DISPATCHES

Theater Panic—The Great Yacht Race—Honolulu News.

A Lively Meeting at Morris, Man—Heartless Youth.

IMPROVED.

OAKLAND, Sept. 7.—The Governor is slightly improved to-day.

RECORD BROKEN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At Sheepshead Bay to-day, in the first race, mile dash, Stuyvesant beat the record of 1:40¼ by a quarter of a second.

GREAT TROTTING RACE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Jay-Eye-See and Patron are matched to trot at Washington for $5,000 a side. This race will take place either on September 27th or October 2d, and it will be the grandest trotting event of the year. Jay-Eye-See's record is 2:10 and that of Patron 2:14¼.

FUN IN A BATH TUB.

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 7.—Suit was commenced to-day by Nettie Steele for $20,000 damages. The article that caused the complaint was published in the Expositor, on the 22d ult., and was headed "Fun in a Bath Tub." Miss Steele was charged with bathing in company with a man named Tyler and another woman named Stevens, in Lawson's bath house.

ECCENTRIC PIONEER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The funeral of Hugh Whittel, 77 year of age, a pioneer of 1849, took place to-day. Whittel was an eccentric character. Five years ago he conceived the idea of having a tomb ready for himself. Accordingly he had erected on his burial plot in the Masonic cemetery a fine white marble shaft with a suitable inscription. He leaves an estate valued at a million dollars.

PANIC IN THEATRE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The five hundredth performance of "Erminie" was taking place at the Casino Theatre last night and the theatre was packed to the doors. There was a fire two blocks away and a whiff of smoke getting into the auditorium made the people uneasy. Then some miscreant in the gallery shouted "fire," and a panic was started in a few seconds. Nearly every one in the house was on his feet. Fortunately by the extraordinary efforts of the actors and managers of the house, police and others the people were quieted and none were seriously hurt.

WATCHING THE ANARCHISTS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—It is stated this morning that serious trouble, in case of an adverse decision of the Supreme Court, is not feared, but is expected, and preparations on a large scale are being made to meet it. An official, interviewed, said that at least 150 "Reds" are being shadowed, and Judge Garry's residence, as well as that of the jurymen who condemned the anarchists, are closely watched. Four principal witnesses for the State are receiving police protection at their own request. State Attorney Grinnel's house is also well guarded. The official intimated that one of the most desperate "Reds," who resided on Rice street, had held a secret council with a few of the most trustworthy of the "inner circle" but a few days ago, and each attendant upon that secret meeting was just now an object of special attention.

OTTAWA, Ills., Sept. 7.—The Supreme Court adjourned until to-morrow evening without reaching the anarchist cases.

THE QUEEN'S CUP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Volunteer, Mayflower and Thistle, between which is to be decided whether the America's cup is to be regained in the encounter this fall, were in the bay this morning. The Volunteer came down the East river early and dropped anchor at Bay Bridge, off the club house of the Atlantic yacht club. General Paine, owner of the Volunteer, said: "No one knows anything about the Thistle. I have never seen a Scotch craft. There is but one thing certain, and that is she is very fast. I am satisfied nothing on this side can beat her unless the boat chosen to defend the cup is sailed for all she is worth. The Volunteer will be sailed for her best."

THE CHINESE BANKING SCHEME.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A dispatch from Washington to-day says that the Chinese minister last night signed the concessions from his government to the American syndicate. It is said Drexel, Morgan & Co., of Philadelphia, have agreed to take upward of two millions in stock, which will be sold in the United States, and every share is spoken for. Chang Yen Hoon, Chinese minister, is said to have been fully satisfied with the responsibility of the gentlemen who formed the syndicate.

HONOLULU ADVICES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The Chronicle to-day publishes a letter from Honolulu, which was brought by the steamer yesterday, saying: There is much dissatisfaction among the better class of foreigners over the military dictation which has grown up since the semi-revolution June 30. This has extended to complete control of the press, the newspapers being even forbidden to publish ordinary proceedings, such as the trial of Hayselden, son-in-law of ex-Premier Gibson. So great was this terrorism that not a single journal in Honolulu dared to reprint the comment of American newspapers on the revolt in Hawaii, although everyone was eager to get copies and see for themselves what was said. Business continues dull, owing to the sense of insecurity and unrest. It is tacitly admitted that the new constitution is not a final settlement of the points at issue. The disfranchisement of a large section of natives, who will not swear to the constitution and restricted franchise, will lead to trouble.

CANNIBALISM.

On one of the outlying islands of the Sandwich group there lately occurred a massacre of three boatmen belonging to the schooner Mary Anderson, under exceptionally brutal circumstances. The boatmen were first severely wounded, to render them helpless, and tied hands and feet and taken in canoes over to another island and sold for pigs. The purchasers then finished them, and had a cannibal feast on the bodies.

AN INDIAN RULER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Thakore Saheb, of Kattiwar, India, arrived to-day on the Servia. He is but 20 years old, and under the authority of the British Government he rules over 200,000 subjects. He will remain in the United States about six weeks and will visit the Pacific coast.

POOR BUT HONEST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Dr. Beaumont, of Beaumont, Texas, arrived in this city to-day. In an interview he said: "Frank James is working in a dry goods house at Dallas. He gets $100 a month and pursues his way as quietly and unsolicitously as the most unassuming person in the town. His family is in Dallas, too, and his children are going right along to the public school. It is not true that Frank James made a lot of money and retired to enjoy it. He is poor and only has enough from his salary to get along on. I knew the James boys well at St. Joe before I went to Texas, and say what people will about the James boys, they were fearfully used. That is, the family was in the early border difficulties. Their two sisters were captured as political prisoners and incarcerated with a lot of other women prisoners in an old brick house that had already been condemned as dangerous. It fell down and killed them. Then bombs or hand-grenades were thrown into the residence of their mother, Mrs. D. Samuels, and one of her arms blown off and she was otherwise maimed."

LABOR HAS A HOLIDAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—In the ranks of the labor procession to-day were printing presses in operation, bakers ovens in full blast, a number of large saws, a sailing boat fully equipped and a group of cigarette manufacturing girls. At Union Square the procession was received by Henry George, S. M. Sherwich, the Socialist agitator, and others. General Master Workman Powderly, who was expected, did not appear. The procession wended its way up Fifth avenue to Forty-second street, where it disbanded. The remainder of the day was spent in social enjoyment. The day was also appropriately observed in Brooklyn. The public buildings and departments were all closed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Labor Day was generally observed by the trades unions of this city. At the street parade in the evening about 3000 men were in line. Among the organization which took part in this were the Typographical Union, Coast Seamen, Stevedores, Plasterers, Bakers, Butchers and Cigar Makers Unions.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—The buildings and manufacturing operations were very generally suspended in this city, and a procession of 25,000 took place.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Labor Day was generally observed by the labor organizations here. Two monster picnics were held.

AN EMBEZZLER EXTRADITED.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Wm. Hogg Markham, an ex-paymaster of a British man-of-war, who was arrested in Kansas City for an embezzlement committed in China, was handed over to Inspector Mathewson, of Hongkong, the Imperial police officer, who arrived yesterday with extradition papers. After securing his prisoner he left for San Francisco, whence he will sail for Hongkong.

THE SALMON MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Advice from London to-day state that the situation in salmon has further improved, and in the prevailing scarcity of spot the prices have run away up. The landed parcels of Columbia river fish have been eagerly taken at 27@28s. per case for prime qualities in tall tins, and contracts have been made for the arrival on similar terms, my 67s. 9d. Fine salmon in "flat" tins commands 31s. Owing to the severe falling off in supply this year it is now out-stripped by the home consumption, and in their anxiety to secure a sufficient supply for their current wants the trade are giving almost any prices that are asked.

THE MURDERED ARCHBISHOP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—A letter received by the Jesuit Fathers in this city states that the body of the late Archbishop Seghers, who was foully murdered, still lies at St. Michael's, in the Greek church there, encased in a metallic casket. Owing to recent great heat the ice has dissolved, and it is believed the body is rapidly decomposing. There is much doubt as to the time of arrival of the remains at Victoria. They might reach there in a few months, or not till next year, according to circumstances. There is a provision necessitating the thorough embalming of bodies before they can be taken aboard American cruisers, and until this is accomplished it is feared that the body of His Grace cannot be shipped. A Jesuit priest continually remains at St. Michael's, in charge of the body.

A HEARTLESS YOUTH.

PETALUMA, Sept. 4.—A distressing event occurred yesterday, in which a little boy lost his sight. It seems that two boys named Lowe and Costello were playing on the street. The Costello boy wanted the other to go up town, but met with a refusal. Saying that he would be revenged, Costello left, but soon returned with a small package in his hand, and, while Lowe was in the act of stooping, set fire to the package and threw it into his face. An explosion followed and the little fellow struggled back, screaming that he was blind. A doctor was sent for, and, upon careful examination, pronounced the sight entirely destroyed. The act seems to have been premeditated, showing the utter depravity of Costello.

PEOPLE WHO SUICIDE.

Some Peculiarities of Those Who Take Their Own Lives.

An English physician, Dr. Westcott, has written a very entertaining book on the subject of suicide. According to him hanging is the most prominent means of suicide. Drowning comes next. Women are especially fond of watery graves, for some reason or other. People have also killed themselves by voluntary starvation, eating horse hair and swallowing pennies. The impression is general that the gloomy months of the year are those in which the majority of suicides occur. In the large class of suicides proceeding from disappointment and misery, the very contrast between the beauty of nature and the state of mind of the sufferer must, in many cases, be unbearable, and precipitate the fatal act. Here are some figures, obtained a short time ago from Coroner Ashbridge, in regard to deaths from suicide in this city last year: Business troubles, 15; chagrin at parental discipline, 4; destitution, 3; dissipation, 10; political disappointment, 2; family trouble, 31; insanity, 18; love trouble, 5; sickness, 5. Let it be said that a man who cultivates the full force and energy of his moral character need never fear that he will fall a victim to the suicide tendency of civilization. For it is a sad fact that self-destruction follows the triumphs of cultivation, education and civilization.

EUROPEAN DISPATCHES

Krupp's Great Generosity—Theatrical Death Traps.

End of Parliamentary Session—Bulgarian Complications.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—It has at last been arranged that the Queen's jubilee presents are to be exhibited for three months in state apartments at St. James palace, which will be open to the public during that period.

KRUPP'S MONUMENT.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—A statue of the late Alfred Krupp is to be erected in the market place of Essen by the municipal Council of that town. It is to cost £300. Herr Krupp has left £25,000 to be used for the benefit of the inhabitants of Essen, and he desires his son and successor to set aside £50,000 for a charitable fund in aid of the workmen of the establishment, which fund is to be managed by a committee of workmen and officials.

THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Commenting on the invitation to Gladstone from the executive committee to attend the centennial celebration at Philadelphia of the adoption of the American constitution, the Times says: "Englishmen will not fail to gratefully recognize the kind feeling that prompted the invitation. We are sorry as Gladstone was chosen, that he is unable to accept, but we find it difficult to discover how the conclusion was arrived at that Gladstone was peculiarly fitted to represent England on such an occasion. We should hardly select Blaine to represent the United States at an English celebration."

THEATRICAL DEATH TRAPS.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—There was a sensible falling off in the attendance last evening at the theatres, induced by the frightful accounts of the burned Exeter theatre. Meanwhile several theatrical death traps, like the Gaiety, the Strand, the Comedy, Covent Garden, and Opera Comique theatres, continue to attract possible victims. The subject of the safety of the public in theatres was brought up in parliament last evening. The secretary remarked that it would not be possible for the home office to appoint inspectors of theatres without legislative authority. But the dreadful calamity at Exeter shows the necessity for some legislation, and the government would give its attention to the subject.

THE BULGARIAN MUDDLE.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Berlin telegrams put the present attitude of Turkey in reference to Bulgaria in a new light. The German foreign office seems not to believe that Turkey will really send Gen. Karoth as a special commissioner to Bulgaria. All the porte has done is to notify Germany it is inclined to send him if all the powers approve, but no request for approval has yet reached the other powers. Bismarck has expressed no opinion, and intends to express none unless formally asked by Turkey. The Sultan, it is now said, hesitates because he has been told that the dispatch of a commissioner without troops would be ridiculous and troops he is resolved not to send. Meantime Stambouloff is strengthening his government. Austria is reported to have refused its assent to the Ernroth scheme.

END OF SESSION.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The end of the session seems to have come into view at last, and the government hopes to get enough supplies through by to-morrow. The House will probably rise a week later. The session will close with the admission on the part of the ministerialists that it has been even more barren than the enemies of the goverement declare. Both sides still claim to have scored at Ennis on Sunday. Irishmen are said to regret that technical assault is not allowed to be committed. The action of the government is not to pass unchallenged in the House. Labouchere last night would have moved the adjournment with a view to calling attention to the suppression of the meeting at Bally Coree, but the attendance was so limited that he was unable to secure sufficient support. Sexton, however, threatens to bring up the subject at the earliest moment possible.

THE EXETER HORROR.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The people of Exeter are greatly excited over the terrible disaster at the Theatre Royal. Business is suspended. The shops are closed. There is mourning in hundreds of houses. Groups are standing at every corner talking with subdued voices. Many tales of wonderful escape and frightful agony are narrated by eye witnesses. One tells how he fought his way through the panic, through the stricken mass of humanity and climbed over into the outer air while all the time a woman was hanging on his back with her arms around his neck, almost strangling him. When he reached the light, he discovered that the woman was his wife, whom he had left behind as dead. The man was frantic with joy. In an angle of the passage from the gallery the struggle to escape was so furious that men and women fought and trampled each other down. The pressure of the mass in motion was so great that limbs were actually torn from the bodies of persons clutching out to escape, but wedged in and weighed down immovably by the crush in that awful corner. A man named Davey was in the gallery with his wife and child at the outbreak of the fire. He took his child in his arms and dragged his wife towards the exit. There he fell suffocated by the smoke and heat. He was found with his child beneath him and his wife lying by his side, all dead. This afternoon the coroner ordered the interment of all the bodies that were unrecognizable. The chief constable swore that to the best of his belief one hundred and twenty bodies had been taken out. Of twenty injured and taken to the hospital, six have died.

FRENCH MOBILIZATION.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The newspapers all agree that the mobilizing experiment is a success. They say if France had been in such a condition for war in 1870 as she is now, Germany would have found her match. Two men were arrested at Toulouse while taking notes of the movements of the troops on suspicion of being German spies. They proved, however, to be reporters.

AN IRISH CONVENTION.

DUBLIN, Sept 6.—Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien have signed a notice calling a convention of delegates from all the league branches in Limerick, for the purpose of arranging a plan for raising a fund in aid of evicted tenants and to counteract the landlords' efforts at extermination.

PRINCE OF WALES IN DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 6.—The Prince of Wales arrived at Hobongor to-day. He was received by the Danish Royal family and the Czar and Czarina of Russia and escorted to Frensburg by a guard of honor.

AYOUB KHAN.

CABUL, Sept. 6.—It is reported that Ayoub Khan has reached Kushak, where he will meet the fatherly Sirdar of Jamshedis and solicit aid of his tribe to overcome the Afghanistans.

It is learned on the best authority that the President and Speaker Carlisle have formulated the outlines of a tariff bill, which is now being inspected by Secretary Fairchild. The main features of the proposed administration bill are abolition of the tax on tobacco and fruit brandy and a large addition to the free list of the tariff. There is also a considerable reduction proposed in tariff duties.

CANADIAN NEWS.

THE MANITOBA TROUBLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 4.—Yesterday there was held at Morris, on the Red River Valley Railway line, a picnic under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, to try to work up a feeling against the disallowance agitation. Provincial rights champions were out in full force with rotten eggs, and White, Thompson and McLellan of the Dominion ministry, and Messrs. Royal, Daly and Scarth, Provincial members of the House of Commons, who were to be present, failed to appear, being afraid to show themselves. The result of this was that the anti-disallowance men took hold of the gathering, sweeping everything before them, denouncing Sir John A. Macdonald, the Canadian Pacific Company, and the Dominion Government, and vowing until their rights were conceded the fight would be continued, even if the confederation had to be burst. They swore they would no longer submit to the manacles of monopoly, but as free men would contend for their rights until they were conceded. A few hirelings engaged for the occasion leaped upon the platform and assaulted R. J. White, who was speaking. The crowd immediately interfered and drove the intruders from the grounds. Groans were given for Sir John and the government. Great chagrin is felt by the Canadian Pacific people and their friends.

THE QUEBEC LOAN.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—Some days since it was announced that the new provincial loan of $3,500,000 bearing 3½ per cent. interest, authorized at the last session of the legislature, had been floated in New York at 94.8. There was great jubilation in Liberal circles at the government's success in getting such favorable terms, more so than any Canadian body had ever before received. The public had not had time to digest this information when it began to be rumored that all was not as it should be, and that when the sum negotiated for should have been deposited in the Commercial Bank of New York, which had been chosen by the successful tenders, it was announced that some hitch had occurred, and that negotiations would have to be resumed. It transpires that the syndicate wanted to form a corporation like the Hudson Bay Company, to develop the fisheries and timber resources. The Government have created a great sensation.

THE VOTERS' LIST.

In answer to enquiries relative to the Dominion voters' list it may be well to state that an act was introduced and passed last session by the Minister of Justice suspending for one year the operations of the Dominion Franchise Act and its amendments. In the meantime all bye elections must be held under the last revised list. There is no provision made for registering with the revising barrister. So that if either Messrs. BAKER or SHAKESPEARE resigns and a new election is ordered the list of voters will be the same as that under which they were elected last March. This, of course, does not apply to provincial voters, as electors can register at any time for that list.

THE BONUS SYSTEM.

The system of granting municipal bonuses to manufacturing concerns in the East has been run to the ground. With one or two notable exceptions the hundreds of thousands of dollars voted to aid in the establishment of manufactories in certain localities has not been fraught with that success which it was expected the bonus system would lead to. The whole system is a pernicious one and it is only in rare and exceptional instances that the granting of a municipal bonus is now heard of. In a recent issue of the Guelph Herald we read of a couple of petitions having been presented to the Council of that city praying exemption from taxation and the free use of the city's water for a term of years. That journal, in condemning the system and the petitions, thus refers to the case of Messrs. Bell & Co., whose business, and the proportions it has assumed, it must be admitted, pleases every citizen of Guelph. What was a few years ago a small workshop has since developed into probably the largest organ manufactory in the world. Energy, skill, shrewdness, industry and enterprise, exercised with untiring perseverance by Messrs. BELL & Co., in a large measure account for the wonderful growth of their business and the world-wide reputation that business has attained. They deserve credit, and great credit, for the ability they have displayed and the success that has been their justly earned reward."

NOVA SCOTIA'S PROGRESS.

Notwithstanding the dissatisfaction prevailing in Nova Scotia, politically, that province has made wonderful progress within the last fifty years, for a comparatively old settled country, and probably no eastern state of the American Union can show a like ratio of progress. In 1838 the population of the province was 199,508, in 1887 it was estimated at 490,000 an increase of 250 per cent. In 1847 the customs revenue collected was only $270,000, last year it was $1,663,087, an increase during the 40 years of 600 per cent. During the period between 1837 and 1887, sales of N. S. coal have increased from 118,942 tons to 1,373,666 tons, an increase of over a thousand per cent. Fifty years ago registered shipping represented 634 vessels of 144,638 tons, while last year, despite the great and unequal opposition of iron steamships, the number of vessels increased to 3,929 with a tonnage of 527,021. Foreign shipping entering the ports of Nova Scotia amounted in 1836 to 332,781 tons, in 1886 it represented 1,350,774 tons, an increase of 400 per cent. The value of the fisheries of this favored province has risen in fifty years from $895,000 to $9,000,000, an increase of 1,000 per cent. Bank note circulation, which, fifty years ago was $400,000, has risen in value to $5,000,000. Provincial returns of 1832 showed the number of pupils attending the 420 schools of the province as 11,771 scholars, while in 1886 the statistics show an attendance of 105,400 or nearly 25 per cent. Surely such well verified facts are of more value in showing the progress of Nova Scotia than the ranting detractions of disappointed politicians on the stump.

A BIT OF MEXICAN HISTORY.

The popular mind has been for so long a time ingrained with the idea that Maximilian was miserably betrayed, it will now be difficult to turn the tide of sympathy. Nevertheless says the San Francisco Examiner, events have lately been brought to light which, if true, brand the dead Emperor as a traitor and a poltroon who richly merited his fate. These revelations, purporting to come indirectly through General Escobedo, have grown out of the accusation of treachery made against General Lopez, one of Maximilian's staff. It has until now been commonly held that Lopez betrayed the young Emperor by surrendering the Convent of La Cruz, where he had taken refuge. By the account in the Monitor Republicano, it appears that Lopez was sent by Maximilian to Escobedo to offer the surrender of the convent, the key to Queretaro, on condition that the Emperor, having signed his abdication, should, with his officers be allowed to depart unmolested These terms being refused, Maximilian surrendered unconditionally, and subsequently, seeing his death inevitable, besought Escobedo not to reveal his treachery until after the death of Carlotta. Escobedo promised secrecy under certain conditions. These conditions he evidently thinks to have been removed by the aspersions recently revived and again cast upon the honor of General Lopez. It appears that Escobedo embodied the allegations against Maximilian in a report which was presented to the Mexican Government two months ago and in support of the same offered in evidence a photograph copy of a letter said to be in Maximilian's hand, recommending General Lopez to profound secrecy regarding his mission to General Escobedo. There is an air of naturalness about the story that carries weight. Its weak points are that it filters through several hands and that the reasons now advanced in justification of its publication have existed from the very beginning.

THEN AND NOW.

The Toronto Mail in a recent issue brought to remembrance many important facts relating to the negotiations which have been in progress between the Canadian and the American Governments relative to a freer commercial intercourse between these two nations, and notably that of those of 1869. Then Sir JOHN MACDONALD was in power, and Conservatives and Liberals alike were committed to a tariff for revenue, and were in favor of a renewal of the reciprocity treaty which had been abrogated by the Republic in 1865. The negotiations failed, and very little was said about them at the time. When Sir JOHN was questioned in Parliament he merely replied that what had passed between the Canadian delegates and Sir EDWARD THORNTON on the one hand and Secretary FISH on the other was private and confidential. But the main facts were afterwards brought out. On March 16, 1870, the late Mr. HUNTINGTON, speaking in Parliament to a resolution in favor of continental free trade, stated that—"In the preliminary negotiations between Mr. ROSE and Secretary FISH, "it was agreed that the manufactures "of both countries should be admitted duty free."

Hon. GEORGE BROWN, who was in the treaty that brought about the trade treaty of 1874, which the United States Senate refused to ratify, afterward threw additional light on the negotiations of 1869. He had, while at Washington, became possessed of the information, and in a speech in the Senate stated as follows: "More than one effort was "made by the late government (MACDONALD-CARTIER) for the renewal of "the old treaty between 1866 and "1869. In 1869 formal negotiations "were entered into with the American Government, and the projet of a "treaty was presented for discussion. "The negotiations continued from "July, 1869, to March, 1870. The "projet included the cession for a "term of years of our fisheries to the "United States; the enlargement and "enjoyment of our canals; the free "enjoyment of the navigation of the "St. Lawrence river; the assimilation "of our customs and excise duties; "the concessions of an import duty "equal to the internal revenue taxes "of the United States; and the free "admission into either country of "certain manufactures of the other."

The facts thus attested find further confirmation in the article from the London Times, quoted by Hon. Mr. DAVIES in Parliament, (10th March, 1880) in the Commons debate before alluded to. The quotation is: "A single circumstance may show to what extent the freedom of action of our colonies may go. It is at this very moment a matter of discussion in Canada whether a treaty of reciprocity should not be concluded with the United States; and the result of the deliberations may very possibly be the admission of the manufactures of New England into the Dominion under lighter duties than the manufactures of Great Britain. If the Canadian Ministry come to the conclusion that such an arrangement is for the benefit of their country, will the Colonial office advise the Crown to disallow negotiations? "Assuredly not." In those days the United States debt was almost at its maximum, being $2,600,000,000, while that of Canada was only about $100,000,000 net. Yet then Sir JOHN MACDONALD's government entertained the idea of "the assimilation of our customs and excise duties" with those of the United States. And the London Times said that the colonial office would "assuredly not advise the crown to disallow the negotiations." These then are the facts in connection with the negotiations which have been on the tapis since the abrogation of the 1854 treaty, and which proved of so much advantage to the Canadians. At these periods no one heard of the annexation bowl or the cry of disloyalty, nor were they repeated in 1876-8 during the National Policy agitation. The Conservatives then were the propounders of schemes for enlarging our commercial relations with our neighbors and passing legislation against Britain's manufactures. The Liberals never raised the cry of disloyalty or the annexation hobgoblin. To-day the Conservatives notice a coming change in the agitation for Commercial Union in which many leading Conservatives are its most prominent advocates and the old cries of annexation and disloyalty are at once raised. No longer will these avail that party, nor debar Canadians from acting in a manner which they believe will advance their material interests and insure the prosperity of the entire Dominion.

RUNAWAY ENGINES.

Two Big Passenger Locomotives Go on a Cruise.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Two big passenger engines run away within the yard of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company last night, and two engineers received probably fatal injuries. Locomotive No. 393 was standing beside the signal tower on the tracks above Seventeenth street awaiting the signal to back into Broad street station. As the engineer sat in the cab, with his back to the station, he suddenly heard heavy rolls of wheels on the tracks behind him. Quick as a flash he turned, but it was too late, the crash had come. A heavy shifting engine, No. 189, while running out of the station had taken the wrong track. The shifter collided with No. 393 with terrible effect. Engineer Thompson was caught in the crash, and after being mangled about the head was thrown out of the cab and lay insensible alongside the track. No. 393's throttle was thrown wide open and the engine started out on the road at the rate of a mile a minute. Having no one to control it the wild engine flew westward through the yard toward West Philadelphia. When No. 393 reached the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad crossing, a mile distant, near Thirtieth street, on the elevated track, it collided with engine No. 1100, which runs to Westchester. The engineer of 1100 was alone waiting to back down to Broad street for his train. The force of the collision threw him out on the ground and then engine No. 1100 bounded up the track, its throttle having been open also, with engine No. 393 crowding behind it. Fortunately the two engines ran through the switch which threw them on a short side track. This track was only one hundred yards in length, and ended upon an embankment about thirty feet in height. Number 1100 went bounding down the embankment and buried itself in the dirt. The second engine came along at the same wild speed, and it, too, went crashing down the bank, tumbling over the other iron monster. The two engines were badly wrecked, and had they not taken the side track they would have run wildly ahead on the main track and caused perhaps a terrible catastrophe, as nothing could have stopped them until they collided with another train or their steam ran out.

Catarrah, Catarrahal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever is cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard.

LITERARY SUCCESS.

The Ways by Which Some Noted Writers Have Become Famous.

Every literary success has its own history. Thoreau's beautiful books are found in every library where he would have cared to have them; but they were so little appreciated when originally issued that at the end of the first year almost the whole edition was returned to the author, who carried the books laboriously upstairs with the laughing announcement that he was probably the only man in America with a library of 1,000 volumes all written by himself. Rider Haggard thinks he will try the doubtful experiment of weaving his African experience into a book for boys, and thousands of copies, perhaps hundreds of thousands of "King Solomon's Mines" are sold immediately, quite as much to his own surprise as that of anybody else. Bayard Taylor, thirsting for the literary life, eager for fame, but only for the fame that comes from doing really admirable work, labors slowly, toilsomely, carefully, and achieves at last an enviable position for graceful, scholarly, patient literary effort. Sidney Luska leaps into the literary arena with his first book in his hand, so brilliant a one that the critics only wonder whether he can ever do anything else as good. Miss Alcott is inspired to write "Little Women," because, as she naively says herself, "the house needed shingling." Miss Murfree and Mrs. Burnett for years write short stories in obscure publications, unknown, unnoticed and unpraised, till the long training and patient perseverance "tell" at last, and result finally in a splendid effort that the admiring world supposes to be their first. H. H., a brilliant society woman, not especially interested in literature, already in middle age, writes suddenly a poem, is perfectly amazed on receiving $10 for it, pays herself for the publication of her first book, only to find herself in a few years acknowledged as the finest poetess in America, if indeed, as Mr. Emerson said, we may not leave off the last syllable of "poetess." Charlotte Bronte, with profound confidence in her own genius, encouraged by no one, discouraged by every publisher till the last, writes "Jane Eyre," to be one of the greatest novels of her generation. George Eliot, profoundly self distrustful, venturing into fiction only at the urgent entreaty of Mr. Lewes, writes "Adam Bede," to be the admiration of the world, and perhaps never did any work finer of its kind than her first. Harriet Prescott Spofford, a girl of 16, who had never been out of America and hardly out of Newburyport, sits in her little room, with portfolio in her lap, and evolves from her inner consciousness and knowledge of books a story of Parisian life, so faithful to the local color of the brilliant city of the world that the editor of The Atlantic sends it back to her at first on the plea that it is singularly fine, but presumably a translation.

When a book appears so perfect of its kind as "Hans Brinker, or the Silver Skates," the world is interested not merely in reading the book, but in knowing how it came to be written. It may be stated briefly that "Hans Brinker" was almost the first literary effort, though not actually the first, of its author; that at the time she wrote it she had never been in Holland at all; that like her dear and intimate friend H. H., she had passed her girlhood and early womanhood without a thought or a desire for literary fame.—New York Mail and Express.

Hogs on a Spree.

The other day the hogs in our town all got on a spree. One of our townsmen, who had been engaged in making blackberry wine, threw out the back door of his store a large quantity of blackberry pulps, which had been fermented and pressed. The hogs ate largely of the berries, and very soon they were too drunk to walk or even stand up. As soon as they would eat enough to make them drunk, they would stagger and fight and squeal, and it is feared that many of them will die from eating the berries.—Macon (Ga.) Letter.

The One Wasn't Consumptive.

A thin, delicate looking woman sat in a New York horse car one evening recently, and next her sat a native of the queen's realm. The window behind the Briton was open and the cool wind blew in on the woman, making her shiver. At last she said, in a ladylike way, "Won't you be kind enough to close the window behind you, as it makes me very cold?" It would hardly have caused the man any inconvenience to grant this request, but he replied harshly, "I prefer it open; you Americans can't stand anything; you all seem to have consumption." The other passengers in the car were astounded at his incivility, and there were many angry glances cast at the royal subject. Finally a gentleman rose on the opposite side of the car, and approaching the Englishman, with about 220 pounds avoirdupois, leaned over him, and grasping the window, slammed it down with vigor; then he remarked: "Now, my friend, if you think all Americans are afflicted with consumption, you just raise that window again. I am an American." The little woman blushed, the other passengers smiled, the American returned to his seat, and the Briton looked out of the window and thought.—The Argonaut.

Bulgarian Fabrics.

It is quite a common thing, says an exchange, to find in Bulgarian hovels, grimy with smoke and infested with vermin, hangings and dresses that could be sold for a guinea the square foot in Regent street, and the color of this stuff is so fine, the material so pure and the work so good and firm that a little cleaning will make a 50-year-old embroidery look like new. Alas, some apostles of civilization in the form of German bagmen have latterly taught the Bulgarian women that they can mix a like cotton with their wools and use cheaper materials for their dyes; so that even the comfortable white and blue chalaks, which were warm in winter and light in summer, which kept out rain and rheumatism, which could be darned and redarned and worn down to a thread, are now yielding to textures which for trade purposes bear the same name, but of which the properties have nothing in common with the original.—The Merchant World.

There Was "a Bet On."

Vieuxtemps, the violinist, used to relate that one day, when crossing London bridge, he saw a poor wretch leap down into the stream. There was at once a rush of eager spectators and a voice shouted: "I'll bet he drowns!" "Two to one he'll swim ashore!" "Done!" Meanwhile Vieuxtemps has hastened to get a boat, and was rowing with a waterman to the rescue of the unhappy creature, who was floundering about and just managing to keep himself afloat. As they reached him, and were preparing to pull him into the boat, there was a roar from the bridge: "Leave him alone—there is a bet on!" The waterman immediately lay on his oars, refusing to make any further attempt to save the drowning man; and Vieuxtemps saw him sink before his very eyes.—Chambers' Journal.

Staircase of Rare Marbles.

The grand hall staircase in the new Equitable building in New York city includes specimens of the finest and rarest marbles of the entire world. Drafts have been made upon the historic Roman quarries and the marble mines of India and other countries where rare qualities of stone have been discovered. The grouping of these specimens has been no small labor.—Chicago Herald.

A Slanderous Joke.

"Going aboard this steamer, sir?" asked the captain of a gentleman who was delaying the boat as she was making ready to leave the wharf in Buffalo.

"That depends. Captain, what is your boat insured for?"

"Sixty thousand dollars, sir."

"Ah! Sixty thousand, and she's worth about $35,000. Captain, you needn't wait on my account. I'll take the railroad."—Wall Street News.

Wanted.

An immediate opening for a talented young man who is at present somewhat embarrassed.—Judge.

Burdette.

Do you know, we get tired to death with the measureless conceit of some people! Some other people, that is. Now, here is a lawyer of our acquaintance, he is an atheist; for years he has been going round declaring that no man could understand a page of the Bible; that no man could reconcile its conflicting statements of doctrine or history; that it was all a muddle that no living man could make clear. Well, now, we met that same man only last week, and he says he can understand the interstate commerce law. Oh, come off!

A PLACE OF REST.

"Where shall we go this summer, dear?" asked Mrs. Flynway. "Well, let's see," replies her husband, "last winter we got malaria in Florida!" "Yes, and the alligators got your pointer dog." "And the preceding summer we got the rheumatism in the mountains!" "We did, and the bears got my little Skye terrier." "And the summer before that we went to the sea shore and got bled by the mosquitoes and the landlord!" "Yes." "And the summer before that we went into the country and the children were laid up all summer with ivy poison!" "I remember." "Well, if I felt as strong as I used to, I'd like first-rate to take a vacation this summer, but I'm feeling kind of weak and listless, and I'm afraid I couldn't stand it. Let's stay home and rest this year."

RECOMMENDED FOR PROMOTION.

"You will find the service one of great hardship," said the examining officer to the recruit who wanted to enlist in the Arctic expedition; "of more suffering than profit." "I'm used to that," replied the recruit; "that's the kind of service I've been trained to." "But your duties will increase little by little, until you will be doing two or three men's work." "That's just what I've been doing," was the confident reply. "But you will only get one man's pay, and it isn't very large pay at that." "All right; that's my present salary." "And cold—you have no idea how cold it will be; cold all the time; fearfully, killingly, freezingly cold." "That's right in my line, all of it," said the recruit, with strange enthusiasm. "I've been assistant pastor in a fashionable church in Chicago for two years." He was promptly enrolled and offered command of the expedition.

ANOTHER FIND IN EGYPT.

A learned German professor has discovered—at least he says he has—that the ancient Egyptians invented beer long before the time of Moses. Oh, well, that might be. The ancient Egyptians were mean enough to invent anything, and we know they must have had some kind of tipple, for a great many of them were slewed in the time of Moses. The fact that they were beer drinkers is also further attested by their peculiar handwriting. Any intelligent compositor who has had occasion to set up the copy of the reporter whose assignment compelled him to tarry long at the schuetzenfest has recognized a strong family likeness between his manuscript and the hieroglyphics on the obelisks and mummy cases.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Wolf Dogs in Montana.

The various range associations here recently imported from Colorado a lot of stag hounds which were recommended as excellent wolf exterminators, and they are more than pleased with their investment. The dogs get away with more wolves than the same number of men armed with Winchesters could. Wolves have been very numerous in all this section for some time, and have lessened the profits of stock men materially by killing sheep and calves. When the hounds arrived they were kept in confinement for awhile and then they were turned loose. Six of them went with one party of men out on the range, and in less than two hours they had twelve wolves at bay. The fight that eventually occurred is described by eyewitnesses as most interesting.

The dogs appear to work on an understanding, and their movements indicate as much intelligence as human beings would exhibit. Hunting in couples, they invariably bring down their game. One of them will seize a wolf by the neck and throw him twenty feet in the air before he knows what alls him, and when he comes down the other grabs him and pulls him limb from limb. In the big fight spoken of this plan was followed by the dogs, who went at it like veterans, and they had finished nine of the wolves when the others turned tail and got away. Every day now when the ranchers want a little fun they take the dogs out, and it is not long before a wolf is scared up. The hounds are fed on corn bread and buttermilk, and the only taste of flesh that they get is when they nip a wolf.—Montana Cor. New York Sun.

Jews and Gentiles in London.

It is computed that the income of the London Jews is nearly £5,000,000 per annum. The lowest estimate is £3,508,430, which gives £82 per head for 47,000 persons. The average income of the native population of the United Kingdom is only £35, so that the Jews are two and a half times richer than the Gentiles. It is estimated that 100 Jewish families in London have a yearly income of over £10,000, 1,400 families an income of over £1,000, and 800 an income of over £500. Men with incomes of over £10,000 a year are twenty times as numerous among Jews as among our own people; men with over £1,000 a year are nearly seventeen times as numerous, and people with over £500 nearly six times as numerous.—London Truth.

A Hospital for Animals.

A hospital for animals in London is being planned, together with free dispensaries in the poorer quarters of the metropolis, where, besides treatment of the suffering creatures themselves, lectures can be given and pamphlets published for public instruction. In many poor neighborhoods horses, donkeys, etc., often endure long misery, owing to their owners being unable to pay for professional aid, and by this plan skilled treatment would be brought within the reach of the poorest.—Cleveland Leader.

Beautiful Rooms.

The rooms of the Y. M. C. A., in the Arcade block, Broad street, are about finished, and if anything are in a better condition than they were previous to the late fire. Mr. Shakespeare, M. P., today, with assistants, is re-arranging and classifying the books. It is expected the rooms will be thrown open to-morrow to the public. The reading room will then be ready, as will also be the gymnasium and the parlors. The bath rooms have been overhauled, the ceilings raised and otherwise thoroughly remodelled. When all will be finished these rooms will be neat, cheerful and attractive for our young men, as well as for visitors. The association is deserving of encouragement for the energy and enterprise displayed by it in pushing on the work so rapidly.

Cheap Goods.

Talk is cheap but if you want bargains remember that the B. C. Stationery Co. continue to sell at as low prices as any house in British Columbia of which fact we will convince any who favor us with a call. *

The Place for Bargains.

J. Sehl has just opened, in addition to his well assorted stock of Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloth and Linoleum, a complete line of Crockery, Glassware, Lamps, and Bar Glasses; the finest ever offered in the country, at remarkably low prices, having arrived before the advance in freight rates. *

For China.

By the North Pacific there arrived today a consignment of 35 Chinese, bound for Hongkong by the Abyssinia.

The Barnard Castle.

The owners of the Barnard Castle have abandoned the idea of attempting to raise her, and have decided to strip her of her fittings and cargo.

From New York.

A nice line of Haman & Son's celebrated Boots and Shoes for men arrived at ERSKINE'S BOOT AND SHOE EMPORIUM, corner Government and Johnson streets.*

At Their Old Tricks.

Lucy and Kitty, the two Indian women prisoners who were liberated by Mr. Justice Gray on Monday, on a writ of habeas corpus, applied for by Mr. T. Davie, got drunk a few hours after and were again arrested. The police magistrate on Tuesday fined them $5 and $25, which amounts were paid.

Cedar Hill.

Next Tuesday evening the ladies in connection with the Episcopal congregation at Cedar Hill will hold a social entertainment. An excellent programme has been prepared for the occasion. A considerable number from the city have expressed a determination to be present. The evenings are now the most excellent, and no doubt there will be a full turnout of the people of that locality.

Another Bohemian Levanta.

Mr. H. S. Scott, an attache of the New Westminster Columbian, left the Royal City somewhat suddenly, leaving many and sundry creditors to mourn his sudden departure. The Columbian gives special publicity to his name, stating that he came to Victoria by way of Vancouver. His whereabouts now is unknown.

Really! The Creme de la Creme.

Our Provincial.

There is room to fear that sufficient publicity is not being given to the forthcoming provincial exhibition to be held in Chilliwhack. As yet no posters or hand bills are to be observed, nor are the prize lists in circulation. This is not as it should be, as the season is fast approaching for the holding of the exhibition and no time should be lost in issuing these, for the public is anxious to know all about our big show.

Passengers

Passengers ex North Pacific: F W Morris, F Wascher, A O Gides, Byan, Paulson, R J Wilson, W L Hansie, H Hinds and wife, W D Wright, W G Henley, G E Bennett, F Stein, E E Butler, J Hibden, Mrs Butler, D A Mayhew, wife and daughter, E Dailey, B Andrews, Jas Lotan, Butler, Mainwright, A Hanstick and wife, W Partridge, Mrs Furry, Mrs Gram and daughter, Mrs Reed, Dr Mode and wife, W Sufferin, P Merse, wife and son, L Rostrin, Roberts, D Burton, Dan Bass and 39 Chinese.

Victoria Pilotage.

To the Pilots Attending the Port of Victoria, B. C.:

The barque Oban Bay arrived off the Roads during heavy weather in tow of the steam tug Pilot. When approaching, and off Albert Head, the Captain of the tug blew his steam whistle for a pilot at intervals for a considerable time but no pilot came near the ship until she arrived at the outer wharf, Victoria, after having been into and anchored in Esquimalt harbor on the 11th August.

ON THE WING.

Movements of People We Know and have Read of.

The Revs. H. Edwards and R Small, of Lytton, are at the Clarence.

Mrs. J. E. Gardiner left this morning for Seattle to visit at the residence of Judge Vroomen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Goepel leave to-morrow morning for a visit to Harrison Hot Springs.

Dr. Albert E. Gray, of the San Francisco Journal of Commerce, is at the Driard.

Dr. Wm. Morris, of Sydney, N. S. W., who is on his fourth trip round the world, will sail on the Abyssinia this evening.

Sir Wm. Des Voeux, Governor of Hongkong, his aide-de-camp, Stingsby W. Bethell, and the Bishop of Hongkong, go on board the Abyssinia at 5 p. m. to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ofner and family leave to-morrow morning for Europe. They expect to be absent a couple of years.

Mrs. W. A. Robertson will leave for the east in a day or two. She will visit friends in Western Ontario and in New York State.

Mrs. Fred. Norris and son returned last night from a visit to the Harrison Hot Springs where they spent a week very agreeably.

Lady Macdonald has arrived at Banff. She will bring Miss Macdonald back with her to Ottawa. Sir John has no intention of visiting England at present.

Mr. W. H. Allison, ex-M. P. for Hants, Nova Scotia, has returned to the city, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDonald, corner of Douglas and Chatham streets. Mr. Allison's brother is Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia.

Mr. J. P. Goodhue and daughters arrived on the Sound steamer to-day, and will spend a few days renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Goodhue was for many years a well known and popular citizen of Victoria.

Mr. Geo. Jay, of Messrs. Yates & Jay, barristers, leaves to-morrow morning for New Westminster, where he will take Mr. Armstrong's place in the land registry office. Mr. Armstrong is leaving for a months holiday to Ontario.

Prof. Sheldon is an old friend of Mr. E. Johnson, police magistrate, and is a guest at that gentleman's house. He will remain until Saturday. His object is to gather information in respect to the resources of the province to lay before emigrants in England. Mayor Fell will give him every assistance.

Mr. James Gray, of the Ophir Gold Mining and Flume Company, Big Bend, arrived in the city last night. He brought with him several nuggets ranging in value from $1 up to $16. They are pure specimens of the yellow, precious beauties, which are being picked up on this company's claim in considerable quantities.

Prof. Sheldon, a gentleman well known in connection with British agricultural matters, arrived from the east last night and is registered at the Driard. The professor for some years has made an annual visit to Canada, but this is his first one to the coast. He is largely interested in all matters appertaining to the farm and the field. He will make a tour of observation of the country before returning to the east.

Fire Test.

Mr. S. C. Burris, architect, is erecting a building on the vacant lot opposite the Windsor Hotel, Government street. It is Mr. Burris' intention to submit his fire-proof building material to a test which will, if successful, convince the most skeptical regarding the utility of the article of which he has secured a patent. The test will take place during the early part of next week.

Friday's Excursion.

The U. S. steamer Evangel, which has the mail contract on the route between Seattle, Whatcom, Vancouver and Port Angeles, on Friday will change her regular route and go to Port Angeles via San Juan, returning to her wharf here the same day. In addition to being the mail boat she is registered to carry 60 first class passengers. On Friday's excursion the number of tickets are limited to 60, and we are informed by interested parties that only that number will be sold.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents. *

Skating Rink Open Every Evening.

Music at the Park.

Weather permitting the band of H. M. S. Triumph, under the directions of Mr. A. Arins, bandmaster, will play on the hill on Saturday, 10th September, commencing at 3 p. m.

PROGRAMME:

March	Brighton
	G. Wiegand.
Overture	Semiramide
	G. Rossini.
Valse	Wiener Kinder (Viennese Children)
	J. Strauss.
Selection	Reminiscences of all Nations
	F. Godfrey.
Polka	Pretty Kate
	A. Agius.

	Yradier.
"God Save the Queen."

The City Council, at its meeting this evening, should consider the question of erecting a pavillion for the accommodation of the band, as suggested by "A Lover of Music" a few days ago.

Alpine Property for Sale.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be observed that Mr. John Murray, Spence's Bridge, is offering his fine property, located at the end of the bridge, for sale. This is one of the most desirable properties in the interior. It is in close proximity to the line of the Canadian Pacific, the depot, and on the highway to the interior in the Cariboo direction, as well as the centre for the Nicola and Similkameen country. To such as are in quest of this class of property the opportunity of securing a bargain should not be lost sight of. Here, already for an enterprising individual, is to be found a splendid nursery of growing fruit trees, shrubs and plants, such as have been found to stand the test of the climate and otherwise suit the requirements of the country, as well as a fruit orchard. It is seldom such a property is to be had at any cost. Mr. Murray finds it more than he can manage to look after the whole business. Hence his desire to sell.

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS.

Encouraging Indications—Necessity for Improvements to River—Recent Guests, &c.

Between eight and nine hundred non-residents of British Columbia have registered at the Harrison Hot Springs during the summer, and all have left carrying with them favorable impressions of the place. This, during the first summer of the existence of the Springs as a pleasure and health resort, is a most encouraging indication of its future prosperity, and also as a factor towards the general prosperity of the country.

The steamer Gladys, carrying a portion of the lumber for the residence of Senator Schultz, was obliged to unload within four miles of its destination owing to obstructions in the Harrison river. The Dominion Government should clear the channel at once, as this is a serious detriment to the development of the timber resources of the Harrison Lake country, and impedes travel to the Springs, this being their natural outlet. With but slight expense, all the boats plying on the Fraser river would ascend the river for nine months in the year.

Lieut.-Governor Nelson, who is again sojourning at the Springs, accompanied by his charming wife, contemplates the erection of a residence adjoining that of Senator Schultz. Several eastern gentlemen also propose to lease lots for the same purpose.

Mr. Croft, accompanied by Mrs. Houghton, Miss Dunsmuir, Miss Peebles, Mrs. Croft and Sir Richard Musgraves, made a trip to the beautiful Rainbow Falls, about six miles above St. Alice Hotel, today. Mr. Croft was lucky enough to kill a large mountain goat and a wicked looking porcupine. The ladies returned much pleased with the day's adventures, and were loud in their praise of the Falls and the wonderful halo of rainbows surrounding each grand leap. The party will proceed to Winnipeg, accompanying Mrs. Houghton and Miss Peebles to their homes, and will, on their return, again stop over at the Springs for a more extended visit.

The wire for the telephone communication between Agassiz Station, C. P. R., and St. Alice Hotel is now nearly completed and will be open for business in a few days.

The weather is simply charming, and will probably remain so for a couple of months yet.

OUR SEALERS.

Arrival of the Mary Ellen and the Black Diamond.

The sealing schooner Mary Ellen arrived in the harbor at an early hour this morning, having on board some 2,457 skins; the value of her catch being in the neighborhood of $17,000. The Mary Ellen is owned by Messrs. Alex. and Dan. McLean, the latter being her commander. She left this port on the 28th of April, with a crew of 21, all told. On the way north she hunted for seal, but with indifferent success until the Behring Sea was entered. There they found the seal crop an abundant one, but the weather was very unpropitious, so much so that on many days the ship's boats were not lowered. On more than one occasion a steamer was observed in the distance, which proved to be an American revenue cutter. The Mary Ellen, however, bore away from the cutter and succeeded in eluding her and being captured. Outside of this they suffered no molestation. Spoke to the Lottie Fairfield in the Behring Sea. She then had 1,700 skins on board and was still hunting. The crew came back in excellent health. For the last few days fine weather was experienced. Their friends are congratulating them on their good luck. The Messrs. McLean will remain in the city all winter.

The Black Diamond, Capt. Clark, arrived this afternoon with 970 skins. The weather was very bad and no work could be done for ten days after entering Behring Sea. The Black Diamond arrived at the sealing grounds on July 25th, and left on the 17th August. Sighted two schooners and a three masted vessel, which the Indians asserted was a revenue cutter. After sighting the three master the Indians refused to work and the schooner was headed for Victoria. Behring Sea was literally alive with seals and the small catch is accounted for by the apathy of the Indians and the disagreeable weather. The Black Diamond is owned by Messrs. Gutman & Frank.

The Mountain Chief, Capt. Jacobson, arrived at 2 p. m. to-day with 700 seal skins. Sighted two American schooners and one Indian sealing schooner. The weather was very unfavorable. Saw a revenue cutter making towards Ounalaska. The Mountain Chief dropped her sails when the revenue cutter was sighted and was unobserved by the latter. During the voyage the schooner was within twenty miles of Ounalaska.

THE LATE INDIAN WAR.

The Rising That Was Flattened Out at Batoche.

Dr. A. Jukes, the chief surgeon of the Northwest mounted police, has stated to an Ottawa reporter that on the day before Batoche, Canada was on the eve of one of the most appalling Indian wars of modern times. All the Indians of the Northwest, their American allies as far as the Missouri, and the Indians of British Columbia were involved in the plot. The warlike Blackfeet were very restless during the early days of the rebellion. This tribe for centuries had been making war on every other tribe, but in 1885 all agreed to unite against the common enemy. Runners went from band to band, from camp to camp, spreading the intelligence; presents of tobacco were exchanged and the pipe of peace smoked by upwards of fifteen tribes. The territory occupied by these Indians occupied an area thousands of miles in extent, and the consequences of such a simultaneous rising as that contemplated would be fearful to contemplate. From the borders of Manitoba and the banks of the Missouri, across the Rockies to the Pacific coast, there was a perfect understanding between the Indians. Even the Kootenays in the Rockies were in readiness, while the degenerate Flatheads of the interior of British Columbia were also prepared to slap on their war paint. It was to have been the last but united struggle of Poor Lo against the Western invader. But the loss of Batoche and the intelligence, which was diffused among the Indians quicker than among the whites, even with all the accessories of civilization, flattened out the conspiracy. The Indians possess a perfect system of communication. Fires lighted in a particular way have their significance, a twig or tree bent in a certain direction possess some meaning, while the flash of a mirror from mound to mound will perhaps notify Indians twenty miles away of the approach of enemies.

Assault.

Mr. T. S. Dobbin, chief clerk in the navy yard, was assaulted by two blue jackets on the Esquimalt road, on Tuesday night. It is reported that Mr. Dobbin was roughly treated and will not be able to attend to his official duties for some days. The blue jackets were abusing and ill-treating a Chinaman in the employ of Mr. Dobbin, when the latter interposed and received a severe handling. The aggressors belong respectively to H. M. ships Triumph and Caroline, and are under arrest on board the warships.

For the Orient.

On board the Maude to be lightered to the Abyssinia there were several cases of household effects shipped by Mr. Jacob Sehl to the Siamese princes who left here last week; also a quantity of flour. A large supply of beef, mutton, venison, poultry and fish was likewise taken on board. The horse sold by Mr. John Cameron to a gentleman in Hongkong was likewise shipped. The transportation charges for this animal was $175 which added to its costs to the purchaser will make the animal rather an expensive one. The Chinese arriving from the Sound were kept penned on board the North Pacific awaiting the arrival of the vessel from Vancouver.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or say of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. *

Lord Leyat dropped dead while shooting in the moors of Inverness, Scotland.

While a big gun was being cast in Sheffield on the 6th the gun exploded, killing four men on the spot and injuring many others. The buildings of the establishment were more or less shattered.
